Wilcoxson to retire as Trimble superintendent

BY MORGAN JEMTRUD
PAXTON MEDIA GROUP

Superintendent Jessica Wilcoxson announced her retirement after 27 years with Trimble County Schools during the Feb. 15 board of education meeting.

The school board also discussed enrollment projections for the 2023-2024 school year, construction at Trimble County Jr/Sr High School and set the graduation date for the class of 2023. As members of the board prepared to adjourn, Wilcoxson informed them of her plans to retire at the end of June.

"I want to let you know that I have had a wonderful 27 years as an educator at Trimble County Schools," Wilcoxson told board members. "I'm very thankful for each of you … I've had a great time, and I have nothing but love for this school district and all the people in it, and I think there's no better way to go out than with a full heart and just nothing but love for this community."

In a letter distributed to school board members after her announcement, Wilcoxson emphasized her love for Trimble County Schools, calling her decision to retire "bittersweet." Wilcoxson's parents , Phyllis and J.T. Peniston, are both retired from the Trimble school system, so she has spent most of her life in Trimble schools as a student, teacher and administrator.

"I am proud of our shared legacy of instructional improvement initiatives and the actions taken to make our schools safer," Wilcoxson wrote. "The district is academically and fiscally strong and ready for the next chapter; I am so excited to see what those next pages will reveal for our wonderful students that I have been proud to call my own."

Enrollment decline projected

Meanwhile, Director of Federal Programs Rebecca Moore presented an enrollment projection report for the 2023-2024 school year. Moore said that according to data from the 2020 census, Trimble County's population is aging. The county was projected to grow based on 2010 census data, but Moore said that is no longer the case based on the 2020 census numbers. According to Moore, Trimble County's population is projected to decline by 25% over the next 15 years. However, she thinks some of the numbers may be inaccurate.

"The numbers don't match from different data sources," said Moore. She explained that the live birth rate for the county has been around 88 births per year for several years according to the Office of Vital Statistics in Frankfort, but there have been more kindergarten enrolments than the birth rate projects.

"We have families moving in, which is a good thing, or we have families who have not completed the census," Moore said. "So it'll be interesting to see how the projections evolve in the next few years, and see if the Census Bureau actually goes out. They used to have people go out and knock door to door … they were unable to do that with the 2020 census with Covid."

Moore said that the expected decline in enrollment combined with low attendance rates is likely to cause a decline in the amount of funding the district receives from the state. She explained that for the last three years, funding has been based on attendance statistics from the 2018-2019 school year. That year, the school district had 1,182 students and was paid according to a 94.7% attendance rate. This year, Moore said Trimble County has 37 fewer students than in the 2018-2019 school year and an attendance rate of approximately 91%.

"Unfortunately, as the year progresses, [the attendance rate] tends to either hold steady or drop," said Moore. "It doesn't usually go up at the end of the year. So not only will we lose funding from the number of students, we're going to lose funding from attendance as well."

Moore said that while funding and enrollment have decreased, Trimble County has seen an increase in students with disabilities.

"Overall, the county school

Students learning cooking skills for life, livelihood

BY BOB DEMAREE

Whether students just want to learn to cook or instead pursue a career in the food industry, Madison Consolidated High School students have those opportunities through the Cub Culinary program.

"I care about cooking well and eating well, and I care that our kids gain those skills that they can put something on a table to share with their friends and families," said LeAnne Blackerby, who teaches Culinary in the MCHS Food and Consumer Sciences Department.

Community foundation receives re-accreditation

BY THE COURIER STAFF

The Community Foundation of Madison & Jefferson County, Inc. (CFMJC) recently received re-accreditation with the National Standards for U.S. Community Foundations, the nation's highest standard for philanthropic excellence.

"Meeting the National Standards benchmarks is a rigorous, comprehensive process," said Randy Royster, former board member of the Council on Foundations. "This accreditation is a significant accomplishment that indicates CFMJC demonstrates a commitment to transparency, quality, integrity and accountability as it carries out its mission." The National Standards for U.S. Community Foundations program requires community foundations to document their policies for donor services, investments, grantmaking and administration. With approximately 450 community foundations already actively accredited nationwide, and approximately 550 participating, the program is designed to provide quality assurance to donors, as well as to their legal and financial advisors.

"This is critically important to our donors," said Bill Barnes, CFMJC President & CEO. "When people make a charitable bequest or establish a fund, they are putting their trust in us. They are counting on us to manage the investment wisely, honor their charitable wishes and, in some cases, provide lifetime income to a loved one. The National Standards accreditation says our house is in order."

CFMJC offers a range of charitable funds, allowing donors to advance a cause, support an individual organization, provide flexible support for community needs or recommend individual grants. In addition to affirming the organization's philanthropic services, the accreditation validates CFMJC's grantmaking practices for the nonprofit community.

"Grantmaking is a lot like investing," said Stephanie Withered, CFMJC Board Chair. "We need to assess risks, weigh potential gains, diversify assets, monitor performance and operate fairly. With our National Standards accreditation, you can be assured that we're doing just that."

Carrollton man sentenced to 15 years in drug dealing case

BY THE COURIER STAFF

A Kentucky man convicted last month on four drug charges — including dealing methamphetamine — by a Jefferson Circuit Court jury was sentenced Thursday to 15 years in the Indiana Department of Corrections, all executed.

On Jan. 25, a jury deliberated two hours before reaching a verdict finding Ethan A. Coots, 25, Carrollton, guilty on four charges — Dealing in Methamphetamine, a Level 2 felony; Possession of Methamphetamine (over 28 grams), a Level 3 felony; Possession of a Controlled Substance, a Class A misdemeanor; and Possession of Paraphernalia, a Class C misdemeanor.

Coots and another man, Michael Sanchez Edmondson, 38, of Louisville, were arrested by Madison Police during a traffic stop on March 13, 2022, after a search of the vehicle they were in recovered more than 46 grams of methamphetamine, prescription pills and numerous items of drug paraphernalia.

Jefferson County Prosecutor David R. Sutter said he is pleased with the 15-year sentence. "This was a substantial amount of methamphetamine and certainly indicated that Mr. Coots planned to profit from selling the drug," said Sutter. "It's gratifying to see the system work as it did in this instance. My office, and all law enforcement personnel in Jefferson County, is committed to stopping the flow of drugs into our community."

Judge D.J Mote sentenced Coots to 15 years on the dealing charge while the possession charge will be vacated on grounds of double jeopardy. He was sentenced to zero days jail on the possession of a controlled substance charge and six months on the paraphernalia charge to run concurrent.

With the case decided by a jury, Coots retains the right to appeal the verdict and sentence and family members close to his defense have said he plans to exercize that option.

The case against Edmondson is still pending. He was also charged with Dealing in Methamphetamine (10 or more grams), a Level 2 felony; Possession of Methamphetamine (28 or more grams), a Level 3 felony; and Possession of Paraphernalia-Prior Conviction and Possession of Marijuana, both misdemeanors.

So far the court has canceled or postponed several trial dates and pre-trial conferences involving Edmondson. His next pretrial conference is scheduled for March 8 in Jefferson Circuit Court.

Overturned vehicle leads to drug charges

BY THE COURIER STAFF

A report of an overturned vehicle in the 300 block of West Main Street on Saturday in Madison led to the arrest of a Madison man on narcotics and driving under the influence charges by the Jefferson County Sheriff's Department.

Johnathon Kyle Grayson

The overturned vehicle was driven by Johnathon Kyle Grayson, 28, with one passenger. Both escaped serious injury and were out of the vehicle when Sheriff's Deputy Cameron Napier arrived on the scene.

After investigating, Napier determined that Grayson was operating the vehicle while under the influence. Grayson was taken into custody and transported to Norton King's Daughters' Hospital for a blood draw and medical evaluation.

Sheriff's Deputy Devlin McMindes conducted a search of the vehicle prior to towing, and located methamphetamine, marijuana and paraphernalia inside.

Grayson has been charged with Possession of Methamphetamine, a Level 6 felony; Operating While Intoxicated-Endangerment, a Class A misdemeanor; Possession of Marijuana, a Class B misdemeanor; and Possession of Paraphernalia, a Class C misdemeanor.

population, our enrollment, is declining," said Moore. "But if you look at that report, our special needs population has gone up. In the same time our enrollment has gone down 3%, our special needs population has gone up 26%. That's impactful, because generally speaking, it is more costly in some ways, with staffing the special needs services that those children sometimes require, equipment we purchase, those kinds of things, transportation. There's just a lot that goes into that, that unfortunately, I would love to say the state pays for … we do get some additional funding for special needs, but it does not nearly offset the cost to the district. Not even close, honestly."

TRIMBLE SCHOOL RENOVATIONS

Elsewhere, Wilcoxson also updated the board on renovations at Trimble County Jr/Sr High School.

"They have demolished essentially the entire area that is to be the weight room," said Wilcoxson. "They have also demolished the football locker room. Over spring break, they're going to be tearing out the floor in the cafeteria. It's going to be really ugly the remainder of the school year."

She said the reason for tearing the floors out during spring break was because crews will have to perform an abatement once the flooring is removed, and spring break provides ample time to complete that task and will move renovations slightly ahead of schedule. The estimated completion date for all of the renovations is December of this year.

Wilcoxson said she and Kerrie Stewart, TCJSHS principal, have already begun planning for modifications including where students will eat for the first half of the 2023-2024 school year while the cafeteria is being remodeled.

At the suggestion of financial officer Phillip Harmon, the board approved a 60-month contract with Miller Company for copiers and printers in the district. Harmon said that Miller Company offered to buy out the remainder of the current Toshiba lease, which is set to end in July 2023, in March to take over operations in the district.

The Miller Company would replace the Toshiba machines with Miller units and return the Toshiba machines without additional cost to the school district. According to Harmon, the contract with Miller will reduce expenses for the district by $689 a month, with projected savings of $49,000 over the next five years.

The board also saw student presentations on literacy from Milton Elementary School students. Kindergarteners from Becky Phillips' class showed board members techniques they learned for sounding out words. Briar Waddle and Hunter Craig, second graders at MES, read the board stories they wrote and illustrated about finding fossils, and third graders Maisy Smith and Elijah Riggs showcased stories about frogs they wrote and illustrated.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is Tuesday, Feb. 28, the 59th day of 2023. There are 306 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On Feb. 28, 1993, a gun battle erupted at a religious compound near Waco, Texas, when Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms agents tried to arrest Branch Davidian leader David Koresh on weapons charges; four agents and six Davidians were killed as a 51-day standoff began.

On this date:

In 1844, a 12-inch gun aboard the USS Princeton exploded as the ship was sailing on the Potomac River, killing Secretary of State Abel P. Upshur, Navy Secretary Thomas W. Gilmer and several others.

In 1849, the California gold rush began in earnest as regular steamship service started bringing gold-seekers to San Francisco.

In 1911, President William Howard Taft nominated William H. Lewis to be the first Black Assistant Attorney General of the United States.

In 1953, scientists James D. Watson and Francis H.C. Crick announced they had discovered the double-helix structure of DNA.

In 1972, President Richard M. Nixon and Chinese Premier Zhou Enlai issued the Shanghai Communique, which called for normalizing relations between their countries, at the conclusion of Nixon's historic visit to China.

In 1975, 42 people were killed in London's Underground when a train smashed into the end of a tunnel.

In 1996, Britain's Princess Diana agreed to divorce Prince Charles. (Their 15-year marriage officially ended in August 1996; Diana died in a car crash in Paris a year after that.)

In 2009, Paul Harvey, the news commentator and talk-radio pioneer whose staccato style made him one of the nation's most familiar voices, died in Phoenix at age 90.

In 2014, delivering a blunt warning to Moscow, President Barack Obama expressed deep concern over reported military activity inside Ukraine by Russia and warned "there will be costs" for any intervention.

In 2018, Walmart announced that it would no longer sell firearms and ammunition to people younger than 21 and would remove items resembling assault-style rifles from its website. Dick's Sporting Goods said it would stop selling assault-style rifles and ban the sale of all guns to anyone under 21.

In 2020, the number of countries touched by the coronavirus climbed to nearly 60. The Dow Jones Industrial Average finished the week 12.4% lower in the market's worst weekly performance since the 2008 financial crisis.

Ten years ago: In 2013, Benedict XVI became the first pope in 600 years to resign, ending an eight-year pontificate. (Benedict was succeeded the following month by Pope Francis.)

Five years ago: Students and teachers returned under police guard to Florida's Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School as classes resumed for the first time since a shooting that killed 17 people. President Donald Trump called for substantial changes to the nation's gun laws, criticizing lawmakers for being fearful of the National Rifle Association.

One year ago: Russian forces shelled Ukraine's second-largest city, rocking a residential neighborhood, and closed in on the capital, Kyiv, in a 17-mile convoy of hundreds of tanks and other vehicles. A Texas man charged with storming the U.S. Capitol with a holstered handgun on his waist became the first Jan. 6 defendant to go on trial.

Today's birthdays: Architect Frank Gehry is 94. Singer Sam the Sham is 86. Actor-director-dancer Tommy Tune is 84. Hall of Fame auto racer Mario Andretti is 83. Actor Kelly Bishop is 79. Actor Stephanie Beacham is 76. Writer-director Mike Figgis is 75. Actor Mercedes Ruehl is 75. Actor Bernadette Peters is 75. Former Energy Secretary Steven Chu is 75. Actor Ilene Graff is 74. TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is Wednesday, March 1, the 60th day of 2023. There are 305 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On March 1, 1974, seven people, including former Nixon White House aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, former Attorney General John Mitchell and former assistant Attorney General Robert Mardian, were indicted on charges of conspiring to obstruct justice in connection with the Watergate break-in. (These four defendants were convicted in January 1975, though Mardian's conviction was later reversed.)

On this date:

In 1815, Napoleon, having escaped exile in Elba, arrived in Cannes, France, and headed for Paris to begin his "Hundred Days" rule.

In 1893, inventor Nikola Tesla first publicly demonstrated radio during a meeting of the National Electric Light Association in St. Louis by transmitting electromagnetic energy without wires.

In 1932, Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., the 20-month-old son of Charles and Anne Lindbergh, was kidnapped from the family home near Hopewell, New Jersey. (Remains identified as those of the child were found the following May.)

In 1945, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, back from the Yalta Conference, proclaimed the meeting a success as he addressed a joint session of Congress.

In 1954, four Puerto Rican nationalists opened fire from the spectators' gallery of the U.S. House of Representatives, wounding five members of Congress.

In 1966, the Soviet space probe Venera 3 impacted the surface of Venus, becoming the first spacecraft to reach another planet; however, Venera was unable to transmit any data, its communications system having failed.

In 1971, a bomb went off inside a men's room at the U.S. Capitol; the radical group Weather Underground claimed responsibility for the pre-dawn blast.

In 2005, Dennis Rader, the churchgoing family man accused of leading a double life as the BTK serial killer, was charged in Wichita, Kansas, with 10 counts of first-degree murder. (Rader later pleaded guilty and received multiple life sentences.) A closely divided Supreme Court outlawed the death penalty for juvenile criminals.

In 2010, Jay Leno returned as host of NBC's "The Tonight Show."

In 2015, tens of thousands marched through Moscow in honor of slain Russian opposition leader Boris Nemtsov, who had been shot to death on Feb. 27.

In 2020, state officials said New York City had its first confirmed case of the coronavirus, a woman in her late 30s who had contracted the virus while traveling in Iran. Health officials in Washington state, announcing what was believed at the time to be the second U.S. death from the coronavirus, said the virus may have been circulating for weeks undetected in the Seattle area.

Ten years ago: President Barack Obama, still deadlocked with Republican congressional leaders, formally enacted $85 billion in across-the-board spending cuts a few hours before the midnight deadline required by law.

Five years ago: President Donald Trump announced that the U.S. would impose steep tariffs on steel and aluminum imports, escalating tensions with China and other trading partners and raising the prospect of higher prices for Americans.

One year ago: Russian forces escalated their attacks on crowded urban areas, bombarding the central square in Ukraine's second-biggest city and Kyiv's main TV tower in what President Volodymyr Zelenskyy called a blatant campaign of terror.

Today's birthdays: Singer/actor Harry Belafonte is 96. Rock singer Mike D'Abo (Manfred Mann) is 79. Former Sen. John Breaux, D-La., is 79. Rock singer Roger Daltrey is 79. Actor Dirk Benedict is 78. Actor-director Ron Howard is 69. Country singer Janis Oliver (Sweethearts of the Rodeo) is 69. Actor Catherine Bach is 68. Actor Tim Daly is 67. Singer-musician Jon Carroll is 66. Rock musician Bill Leen is 61. Actor Bryan Batt is 60. Actor Maurice Benard is 60. Actor Russell Wong is 60. Actor Chris Eigeman is 58. Actor George Eads is 56. Actor Javier Bardem is 54. Rock musician Ryan Peake (Nickelback) is 50. Actor Mark-Paul Gosselaar is 49. Singer Tate Stevens is 48. Actor Jensen Ackles is 45. TV host Donovan Patton is 45. Actor Joe Tippett is 41. Actor Lupita Nyong'o is 40. Pop singer Kesha (formerly Ke$ha) is 36. R&B singer Sammie is 36. Pop singer Justin Bieber is 29.

beginning with the 2017-2018 school year. In the first three years, she said the school "more than doubled the size of the program" with the number of students participating ranging from 150 to 180 students.

"I'm proud of it. I hope I've taken what other people have done before me and built on it. I'm inspired," said Blackerby, who said the program's growth is a collaboration of all staff members of the MCHS Food and Consumer Sciences Department.

"One of things that makes me happy at Madison is we're a good team, we've built a good team, and it's well supported," said Blackerby.

Debi Brim brings 30 years' experience with a catering business that involved making wedding cakes and cookies, and by combining their experiences, they use that to the benefit the students. "I teach the kids how to bake cakes. She teaches them how to decorate," said Blackerby, noting that Brim was also responsible for building the curriculum for the Principles of Culinary class. "She's amazing. She's incredibly practical, and like me, she wants what's best for the kids."

Amanda Briggs teaches Food Science for both the Food and Consumer Science Department and the Agriculture Department, along with being the Career Technical Education program leader.

Blackerby also benefits from the inspiration of her husband, Wayne Blackerby, who has vast experience in the food industry including restaurant ownership. She learned to cook from her mother who made "good ol' southern comfort food," and also considered herself good at baking, but her marriage to Blackerby has taken that to a new level. "Being with him for 12 years, I get to see the professional side of things," she noted.

Blackerby said she has lamented that many of today's students are neglecting good nutrition by living on meals like fast food, frozen pizza, ramen noodles and chicken nuggets. She knows they can do better, and thinks Cub Culinary is helping them get there.

"There are so many things to cook and ways to cook that are amazing and delicious and simple," said Blackerby, and Cub Culinary provides them that opportunity. "Society has changed. Culture has changed. A huge amount of what's in the grocery store is prepared food. It's harder to find basic ingredients than 10 years ago because everything is already pre-made, half done for you. I care about that. I care about kids having skills" to know how to cook.

Blackerby said students begin with various levels of cooking knowledge. There are some students who come in with no skills, and "by the time they're done, they have really good basics for cooking most of what they want to at home, and some professional skills. They get an OSHA certification for safety in the workplace," she said.

And there are options for students who want to pursue culinary careers. "If you do this professionally, there's more than one path," said Blackerby, noting there was a time when working in the food industry would be challenging to make a living but she said today there are opportunities in which "you can actually make a good living in the restaurant business."

Blackerby most of all wants students who participate in Cub Culinary "to have a great experience" while also "broadening their experience" in learning about culinary and acquiring those skills, providing them "opportunities that they didn't recognize they have."

Blackerby also wants the students to gain confidence in what they learn through Cub Culinary, whether it's not being intimidated by a gas stove or a recipe in the kitchen, or going into a restaurant and being "able to order comfortably whether it's something they've had or not. I want them to feel confident and not intimidated by the experience … I want them to be able feed themselves on a budget and not on a budget. I want them to be comfortable with eating and eating well. Ideally, I'd want them to love food and the conversation that's involved, and the family and friends that's involved."

Braun visit

U.S. Senator Mike Braun (standing) was in Madison on Ash Wednesday as part of his annual visits to all of Indiana's 92 counties. This year his visit to Jefferson County was at the Lanier Mansion Historic Site, where he met with local community leaders, fielding questions about healthcare, business and education. Among those in attendance are (from left) Madison Mayor Bob Courtney, Jefferson County Republican Chair Pam Crozier, Madison Police Chief John Wallace and Carol Dozier, president and chief executive officer for Norton King's Daughters' Hospital.

PET OF THE WEEK

Buggy is an energetic, 3 year-old male dog who loves to run and play with his toys. As one of the longest residents at the Madison-Jefferson County Animal Shelter, Buggy is still waiting for his perfect home. He can be a little picky when it comes to other pets, so it would be best for a meet and greet before adopting him into a home with other pets. For more details, check out the animal shelter Facebook page, visit www.sisaveapet.com or call 812-273-1788.

PART-TIMER TO ALL-IN

Hearne takes love of kicking football to Franklin College

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

When Clint Hearne was first approached about placekicking for Madison football, he never saw himself as a college player. He was a soccer player first and foremost and football was just something to do on the side for fun.

But halfway through his senior year at Madison, as he flirted with the school record for field goal distance and routinely sent kickoffs sailing into the end zone, it occurred to him that he just might have a chance to do continue at the next level.

"For the first fourth of the season, I was kind of just playing soccer every single day and I had to go to football on Thursday. That was walk through day and we'd walk through everything, then on Fridays are the six games," Hearne said. "About halfway through the season I was like, 'I'm actually kind of good at kicking the ball. Maybe I can go somewhere.' So I told my soccer coach that I was going to start going to football more often because I feel like I actually have a shot to play at the next level. I still got to play soccer and football and I'm super-duper happy that it worked both ways."

On Friday, Hearne officially signed to play football at Franklin College, bringing that dream to reality. He knows that he has a long way to go to become the kicker that he wants to be, but he's thrilled to continue that journey.

"The biggest thing is just the stress relief from it. It's all I've been thinking about it since I went to Franklin and went to Hanover," said Hearne, who plans on majoring in business or business management. "It came down to those two schools and I love the staff at Hanover, but ultimately Franklin just felt like home. I went there and it was just an unreal experience."

Madison coach Leroy Wilson has turned to soccer players to kick for him the past few years, and after Zach Forner's graduation two years ago, Wilson returned to the soccer team for another kicker.

Courier file David Campbell

Madison senior Clint Hearne kicks an extra point during the Cubs' win over Mitchell last season. Hearne signed to play at Franklin on Friday.

Hearne immediately jumped at the chance to play football and while he didn't get as many opportunities to kick in game situations as he would have liked, Wilson was thrilled with his progression.

"I think the benefit of playing soccer and being a goalie who kicks similar to what we do on the field, it helps a little bit," Wilson said. "As a coach, I don't want to use the kicker if I don't have to, but if he can put it to the end zone on touchbacks after we score touchdowns, then I'm totally fine using the kicker. And it was really fun too, as we got to the point later in the season, where I was like we've got a chance to hit the school record for length and he came up just a little short. It's neat to like to have a kid who has that kind of leg to be able to achieve something like that and actually be able to go after it in season is really awesome."

Hearne had only two touchbacks on the season but he averaged nearly 50 yards per kick. He also hit 19 extra points and three field goals during the season.

Hearne also got a chance to mix it up on the field. While he never played on offense and defense, he got a chance to make tackles on special teams and relished each one, including a tackle at Cooper in which he got a chance to make a "real" tackle.

"The suplex. That was my favorite part of the last season," Hearne said with a large smile. "To actually just being able to tackle someone was awesome."

For Wilson, the best thing about Hearne's decision to play in college will be his ability to get specialized coaching. Wilson said that he and his staff could help Hearne in a lot of ways, but they didn't have the nuanced knowledge to push his game further.

"It's a huge plus for him that he's going to have a kicking coach. To teach the art of kicking a football is not something that I've done," Wilson said. "I've seen it done. There's one coach I've been around that was so good, he could coach a kid from the sound of the football off the kid's foot. He didn't even have to see it. You don't have those guys at the high school level. It's very rare. So the fact that he actually gets individual personalized coaching for his kicking ability, it's going to be outrageous to see what he can do."

Mann carrying on family tradition

Madison senior to continue softball career at Kentucky Wesleyan

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

To say that softball runs in Cam Mann's family would be an understatement. The Madison Consolidated High School senior comes from a long line of collegiate softball players and her grandfather, Tim Torrance, is Madison's varsity coach.

So it was no surprise when Mann became the latest member of the family to ink her name to a college scholarship, doing so on Thursday when she signed to play at Kentucky Wesleyan.

"I'm really excited to do this because I'm just ready to play softball in college," Mann said. "I'm ready to play at that next level."

Mann's mother, Kristin, and aunt, Alicia, were both standouts at Madison and both played collegiately at Oakland City University. Cam's older sister, Immi, also signed with Oakland City two years ago.

As it turns out, Mann's decision to sign with Kentucky Wesleyan ended up reuniting her with her sister Immi, who transferred to the Owensboro, Kentucky, school in December.

"She actually went because I was going there," Cam Mann said. "I went there because they have a zoology major and I want to be a zoologist. But it's going to be so fun to play with Immi again."

For the past two years, it's not been a question of whether Cam Mann would play softball in college, but only where. She transferred to Madison from Owen Valley after her freshman year was canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic and made her debut as a sophomore where she instantly shined.

Playing both shortstop and catcher for "Papaw" Torrance, Mann excelled at the plate. She led the Cubs in nearly every offensive category, hitting .523 with three home runs, 32 RBIs and 14 stolen bases while slugging at a .779 clip. Last year was even better as she hit .596 with four home runs and 39 stolen bases while slugging right at 1.000.

David Campbell

Madison's Cam Mann smiles as she rounds second after blasting a grand slam in the Cubs' win over Southwestern last season. Mann signed with Kentucky Wesleyan on Thursday to continue playing softball.

Torrance said his granddaughter's skills are off the charts and her ability to handle the bat at the plate are some of the best that he has ever seen.

"You can't really look at her and say she's doing subpar in this or subpar in that. She has ups and downs like everybody else but when she has a weakness — and she doesn't have many — she works on them to improve herself," Torrance said. "Her defense is good, her hitting is solid and for a young lady with a smaller frame, she has a lot of power because of her swing and how she swings. So there's not really a whole lot of weaknesses. She's pretty solid all the way around."

Mann had plenty of choices for college but Kentucky Wesleyan stood out immediately. Along with having her preferred major in zoology, the NCAA Division II school just seemed to fit as soon as she stepped on campus.

"I went on the tour and it was really nice. The one thing that really stood out to me is that they have a radio studio and you can make your own podcast," Mann said with a broad smile. "I think it would be cool to have a podcast with my sister."

While she has stood out behind the plate, Mann said that Kentucky Wesleyan recruited her as a shortstop and that's where she expects to play. With that in mind, she wants to spend her senior season working to improve her defensive skills at that position.

"In high school, I've been mainly catching so I'm going have to be able to try to just expand my ability as a shortstop to the best of my potential," Mann said.

"She's just a great kid to begin with and I think she'll fit in well with what they need," Torrance said. "She's very adaptable to whatever the needs are out there and I think she'll do a great job."

Mann said that while she is thrilled to have been able to sign, she also has some unfinished business during her senior season. Madison should have one of its best teams in the past 20 years and winning the program's first sectional title since 2006 is certainly on her mind.

But she also has some lofty personal goals and she's not afraid to voice them.

"I have a goal of hopefully hitting like .600 which is kind of a big goal," she said. "but I've been close in the previous years and I think I can do it this year."

For Torrance, he's just thrilled to get to see another one of his family members excel at the sport that he loves and it warms his heart to see Cam keep the family tradition alive.

"They've all embraced it very well. It's a real love for the sport," he said. "It's just nice to see them continue with a sport that has kind of grew up in the family."

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

No. 2 Transylvania knocks off Hanover in HCAC final

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Hanover played unbeaten Transylvania nearly even in the first half but the second-ranked Pioneers took control after halftime to roll to an 85-58 win in the championship game of the Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference women's basketball tournament on Saturday in Lexington, Kentucky.

The two teams were tied 21-21 after the first quarter and Hanover led by four late in the second quarter before Transylvania rallied to take a 38-37 lead at the break.

But any chance the Panthers had at an upset were quickly dashed after the intermission. The Pioneers ripped off a 29-8 third quarter to blow open the game and then finished off the win in the fourth.

Katherine Benter had 19 points and seven rebounds to lead Hanover while Grace Bezold had 14 points and six rebounds. Taylor Heath added 11 points, four rebounds and four assists.

Madison Kellione scored 20 points and Dasia Thornton had 16 points and 10 rebounds to lead Transylvania (27-0).

In Friday's semifinals, Hanover jumped out to a big 17-6 lead and never looked back to post a 72-52 win over Mount St. Joseph.

Heath exploded for 30 points to lead Hanover. Anna Bauer had nine points and Callie Wilder scored eight.

Hanover currently sits at 18-8 on the season. They were among the top six teams in the region and have a chance at an at-large bid for the NCAA Division III Tournament. Pairings were announced on Monday afternoon.

HANOVER MEN FALL TO ANDERSON

Hanover was outscored by nine points in the second half in a 72-63 loss to Anderson in the semifinals of the HCAC men's basketball tournament at Manchester on Friday.

The teams were tied at 32-32 at halftime but Anderson hit on 53% from the floor in the second half to pull away.

Ty Houston had 17 points and six rebounds to lead Hanover while Coleman Sater had 16 points and Jack Wininger had nine points and seven rebounds.

Hanover ends the season with a 17-10 record.

Anderson went on to defeat fourth seeded Rose-Hulman 73-55 to earn the NCAA tourney bid. Rose had knocked off top seed Manchester 66-63 in the other semifinal.

Madison swimmers end season at state finals

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Madison's 200-yard freestyle relay team moved up five spots and placed 22nd at the IHSAA Boys Swimming State Finals at the IU Natatorium on the campus of IUPUI in Indianapolis on Friday.

Team members Peyton Ford, Kyle Roney, Gavin McMahon and Camdyn Fever touched the pad in 1:29.00, slightly slower than their school-record performance of 1:28.28 set during the sectional last week, but good enough to move up five spots from their seed position of 27th. The Cubs tied Franklin and outdistanced Floyd Central, which had defeated Madison at the sectional.

"What we learned yesterday was that even 'small schools' can compete when a program is built on a solid foundation and athletes believe they can win," Madison coach Ashley Schutte said. "We are incredibly encouraged by the drive and motivation to get back next year. Freshman Max Thompson (relay alternate) started conversations last night about who can swim what to give the team the best shot at returning and is already thinking about next year — a great sign of what is to come and the desire to continue to build upon the leadership and camaraderie established this season."

Madison closes out a season that was one of its most successful in school history. The boys and girls programs had a combined six top seeds in the sectional meet and qualified for the sectional finals in a total of 27 events. In addition to the boys 200 freestyle relay team, freshman Lilly Canida also qualified for the girls state finals in the 100 freestyle.

"The growth (personal, swimming, and leadership) of this group of young men this season has been fun to watch. As a team, they overcame a number of setbacks, fought through injuries, tried new things, worked hard and came together to be stronger and more focused on one another," Schutte said. "They are the epitome of what a coach loves to see develop as time goes on."

HANOVER ROUNDUP

Panthers post 3 wins at HCAC track championships

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Zaleeya Martin, Amberleigh Sorensen and Ally McGuire each claimed championships for Hanover College at the Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference Indoor Track & Field Championships at Mount St. Joseph on Saturday.

Martin, who already held the school record in the 60-meter dash, set a new HCAC record with a winning time of 7.73. Sorensen won the 800 run in 2:25.42 while McGuire won the pole vault at 2.55 meters. She tied teammate Aliza Boles, a Madison High School graduate, but claimed the win based on fewer attempts.

As a team, Hanover placed second to Rose-Hulman with 127.5 points. Rose-Hulman scored 195.5 points. The Hanover men placed eighth with 35 points.

Other top finishes for Hanover's women were: Sorensen, second, 1-mile run, 5:29.43; Jessie Stenger, second, shot put, 13.15m; Natalie Day, McGuire, Emma Litzelman and Martin, third, 800 relay, 1:54.40; Day, Sorensen, Litzelman and Martin, third, 1600 relay, 4:28.40 Adair Dooley, Kelli Brick, Elyse Wilson and Elizabeth Wahlman, third, distance medley, 14:25.33; and Sarah Jones, third, 5000 run, 19:56.87.

Top finishes for the Hanover men were: Nick Stroud, second, weight throw, 16.37m and fourth, shot put, 14.50m; Anthony Lloyd, Erik Perkins, Layden Adair and Torion'Ja Forrest, fourth, 800 relay. 1:33.56; Conner Watson, Jamyes Evans, R.J. Thalls and Robert Hoegeman, fourth, distance relay, 11:06.16; and Perkins, Hoegeman, Gaven Followell and Evans, fifth, 1600 relay, 3:39.80.

The NCAA Division III Indoor Championships will be held on March 10-11 in Birmingham, Alabama. Hanover opens the outdoor season on Saturday, March 18, at Rose-Hulman.

SOFTBALL GOES 1-4 IN OPENER

Hanover picked up one win and three losses in four games in Ellisville, Missouri, in the Panthers' softball season openers over the weekend.

Hanover lost 3-1 to Greenville and 10-1 in five innings to No. 9 Millikin on Saturday. Kensie Bradley and Sydnie Raisor each had hits for the Panthers against Millikin while Courtney Chookie suffered the loss.

Lauren Beaman struck out seven and tossed a two-hit shutout to lead Hanover to a 1-0 win over Ozarks (Arkansas) on Sunday. Bradley had two hits while Beaman had a double at the plate.

The Panthers then lost 8-1 to Central College in the second game on Sunday.

Hanover, now 1-3, heads to Georgetown, Texas, this week and will take on Southwestern (Texas) for two games on Wednesday. The Panthers will then play at Texas Lutheran on Thursday.

BASEBALL OPENS WITH 3 LOSSES

Hanover baseball opened the season on the wrong end of a three-game sweep at Maryville (Tennessee) over the weekend.

On Friday, Hanover lost 16-5. Eric Roudebush went 2-for-4 with his first home run of the season and Jake Danneman had a double and an RBI. Matthew Alter (0-1) took the loss after allowing six earned runs on five hits in an inning and a third on the mound.

Hanover lost 4-3 in the first game on Sunday. Connor Farnsley was 2-for-3 with a double and an RBI while Danneman and Alex Christie each had two hits. Braxton Garner was tagged with the loss after allowing four runs in two innings of relief.

Hanover collected 11 hits in a 16-12 loss in the second game on Sunday. Gabe Gowens hit a home run, Roudebush and Sam Perkins had two hits each and Danneman scored three runs. Jaden Siemer allowed two runs in an inning and two-thirds and took the loss.

Hanover, now 0-3 on the season, heads to St. Louis this weekend and will take on host Webster and Wisconsin-Oshkosh on Friday.

MEN'S LACROSSE FALLS ON ROAD

Hanover men's lacrosse dropped a 14-8 decision at Southwestern (Texas) on Sunday.

Nick Adams had two goals and an assist while Dirk Meinhart had two goals to lead Hanover. Alex Kleinhelter, Zach Stone, Will Slover and Owen Cuniffe each added a goal. Lance Guttormson had 17 saves and Jackson McKeigue had eight saves in goal for the Panthers.

Hanover, now 1-2 on the season, travels to Centenary (Louisiana) on Wednesday and to Concordia (Wisconsin) on Saturday.

MEN'S TENNIS DROPS TWO

Hanover men's tennis suffered a 9-0 loss at Centre and a 7-2 loss to Hampden-Sydney in Danville, Kentucky, on Saturday.

Connor Garrison and Joey Keal picked up an 8-5 win at No. 2 doubles while Jedrek Brodzki won 6-2, 7-6 at No. 3 singles.

Hanover, now 0-4 on the season, hosts Berea (Kentucky) on Saturday.

Today's Puzzle Solved

After ghosting, this ex now haunts

Dear Amy: Many years ago, when I was in my early 20s, I dated a guy and fell in love. He broke up with me very abruptly and I was extremely broken-hearted.

The rational part of my brain told me that actions speak louder than words — he broke up with me and he never made any real attempt to initiate a reconciliation. It wasn't meant to be. We moved to different cities, I eventually met and fell in love with my now-husband, and, for over a decade, my ex has not been in my life at all. No texting, no following on social media, no mutual friends … nothing.

My problem? Every six months or so, he appears in my dreams.

There are usually powerful feelings of love and longing in these dreams, and I wake up feeling sad and wistful. I love my husband and have a pretty great life, so I don't understand why this person haunts me.

Does this happen to other people? Surely at this point, the dreams and the feelings are not really about this guy, right? How can I get rid of him for good? — Stop Haunting My Dreams

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

Dear Stop Haunting: The rational side of your brain understands these long-ago events.

But now your subconscious is trying to tell you something — and it will continue until you turn the dream inside out and decode its meaning.

I suggest that you look for patterns occurring around those times when you have this dream. Is something in your waking life triggering this dream? Are moments of stress in your marriage (or other relationships) bringing this on? Write down a detailed account of the waking period preceding the dream.

Also write down a detailed description and script of the dream itself (writing is important because the act of writing helps to open your mind, prompting thoughts and memories).

Community cooperation group forgets to cooperate

Dear Amy: I'm a member of a politically-based affinity group that is going through a lot of dysfunction; it all boils down to an insular, cult-mentality kind of vibe.

Our group refuses to cooperate with anyone who doesn't share our exact (very niche) politics.

However, we're supposed to be a political education group, so this attitude really bogs us down, especially when we're also dealing with weekly events, a high-maintenance guest speaker (who's now canceled because he didn't find our proposed event "fun"), conflicts over branding in our newsletter, activist burnout, and more.

We have to coalition-build to meet any of our goals (especially because we're going for a significant societal change). Members are aware of this in theory but get ornery whenever I try to propose this.

I brought this up at a meeting, and it turns out that most people agree with me and think we need to reach out to the community; there are just a few very outspoken people who don't.

What should I do to help those people see reason and get my affinity group off the ground? Or should I just get off this slowly sinking ship? — Organizer With a Problem

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

Dear Organizer: I think you should stage a coup. You should review the group's mission statement or statement of purpose, and if this is in conflict with the way the group actually operates, you should raise this publicly, suggest specific changes to the way the group operates, and ask for a vote.

State your case clearly and passionately. Continue to advocate during meetings. And if you don't see significant change, then yes — you should found or join another organization that aligns more closely with your goals for communication and inclusion.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — You may find that giving away free samples may drum up some more business. A good attitude can often create an opportunity. Be wary of overconfidence when it comes to searching for a solution to possible problems.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Having good etiquette may benefit you in terms of business interests. You might be more focused on practical manners instead of romantic daydreams. You could find yourself feeling more kind, generous and thoughtful.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — If things do not go your way or life is feeling irritating, lean on your faithful loved ones for some needed cheering up. You may find the easiest path to financial success is to be wary of unnecessary spending.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — This isn't likely to be the best time to argue a point. You may feel a need to be fair and right wrongs, but you might end up in a corner on the defensive. You could have an encounter with someone who might exaggerate facts.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — You may find yourself under pressure with a need to comply with rules you might disagree with. You can look for a new perspective by reading some inspiring literature or listening to a podcast from a knowledgeable speaker.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — If you are at odds with a close companion, approach the situation with compassion and forgiveness. You could be presented with workplace struggles — do your best to avoid them. Pennies can become dollars with a little practicality and patience.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — If you choose to spin the wheel of fortune, remember that the odds aren't always in your favor. A risky enterprise may see like an entertaining way to amuse yourself but weigh the pros and cons of the situation before taking the leap.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — You may find yourself feeling optimistic about buying a lottery ticket, but it may be better to focus on people and things more certain to evoke true joy. Take some alone time to think through the most viable tactics and plans.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — The little things might mean the most. A pat on the back or reassurance can go a long way toward brightening a loved one's day. You may need to use your head to tackle your budget or make practical purchases.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Apply some mental leverage. Starting something new may not be the optimal choice if circumstances could cause you to start over. You might need to plan out your strategies and assess all risks before moving forward.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — You may find your schedule is packed and leaves little time for socializing, but that does not mean you are unable to answer the phone. You might have someone who can give you sound and practical advice that can help alleviate some burdens.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — You'll get back what you give. When emitting serenity, you'll likely attract the same in return from others. When trying to make others happy, you may find you do not need to buy the most extravagant gift, it is the thought that counts.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Try not to overthink a family issue. This may not be the time for sudden changes or adjustments that are not thoroughly considered. You may need to take a step back and breathe — disputes and tension should subside eventually.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — It is heartwarming to be popular and sought after, but you may find you have become too busy to socialize. You might have a project or job that will monopolize all your time and keep you tethered to a tight schedule.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — If you're feeling a little on the pessimistic side, you might seek to balance things out with some optimism from a loved one. Making major purchases that could put you in debt may not be the best idea. Research options before deciding.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — You may be more sensitive and emotional, but losing your temper could cause some setbacks. You might struggle to remain rational when faced with conflict and contradictions. Take a step back and look at things with a calmer head to find a peaceful solution.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — You may have your career and business on your mind; trust your instincts. If single, you might feel pressure to take your romantic relationship to the next level before you are truly ready. If you need to, take a step back to reevaluate.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — You may have numerous duties and must wear a lot of hats that require you to work smarter and you might be limited on time for lighthearted chit chats. There is no need to feel guilty about rewarding yourself with a few treats.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — You may need to work to be a people pleaser right now as everything may seem to come back to other people and their needs. An ordinary meeting could unexpectedly turn into a cheerful social event.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — If you receive an ultimatum or complaint from someone, learn the lesson. Show them what you are made of and trust you can handle anything that life throws at you. You can score points by being accurate and knowledgeable.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — You're enthusiastic but you can also be discreet when needed. You may be admired because you throw your whole heart into every project. Even if there's something going one in your home life, you cannot let it dull your shine.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — You may have someone in your life that has difficulties you are not fully equipped to deal with. You might seek to find a common ground or shared interest to offset a tendency for competitiveness.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — You may not be able to squeeze someone into your schedule, but that may end up being a positive. You can pick a time and place that works out for everyone. You might want to hold off on important decisions or crucial agreements until things are moving a little slower.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — A partner or coworker may have information you need to come up with an ingenious solution to a problem. Follow the facts. You might have a family member inadvertently place you in an awkward position about a purchase.

No. 17 Hoosiers men sweep No. 5 Boilermakers

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

WEST LAFAYETTE — Trayce Jackson-Davis turned into Jalen Hood-Schifino's biggest fan Saturday night.

A few hours later, they were celebrating together.

Hood-Schifino scored a career-high 35 points, Trey Galloway fueled a key 12-0 second-half run and No. 17 Indiana gave Jakcson-Davis his first road win against No. 5 Purdue, 79-71.

"He plays the game at his pace and tonight, we really rode him," Jackson-Davis said. "We found a way to do something tonight that hand't been done in a long time."

It had been a dubious decade at Mackey Arena., where Indiana lost seven straight since 2012-13. That was also the last time Indiana (20-9, 11-7 Big Ten) swept the season series.

Now both streaks are over as is coach Mike Woodson's winless run at the same venue. He lost four straight as a player and again last season, his first since taking the job at his alma mater.

And it came with a surprise twist.

Boilermakers fans gathered hours before tip-off in snaking lines and chilly temperatures aroudn the arena's entrances — eager to witness Round 2 of the Big Ten's big men battle.

Zach Edey certainly did his part, finishing with 26 points and 16 rebounds as the Boilermakers (24-5, 13-5) lost for the third time in four games and blew a chance to clinch a share of the conference crown.

Jackson-Davis, in contrast, was scoreless for the first 28 minutes, got into foul trouble and wound up with 10 points, eight rebounds and seven assists.

Instead, two other guys — Schifino-Hood and Galloway — stole the spotlight from Mackey's first prime-time weekend game between the teams.

And in the first half, when Indiana struggled offensively, Schifino-Hood did not. He scored 23 points to keep the Hoosiers within 38-34 at halftime.

Then, after Purdue scored the first basket of the second half, Galloway turned the game. It started with a 3-pointer and Galloway wound up with eight points, one steal and one assist during the 12-0 run that gave Indiana its first lead and in control 46-40 with 15:52 to go.

Galloway had 13 points five assists.

Indiana never trailed again, extending the margin toas much as 13, and with four Indiana players with four fouls, it was Schifino-Hood's final scoring flurry that finally closed it out.

"Very few people have rolled through here and done that and to do that at 19?" Purdue coach Matt Painter. said. "Getting swept by them is not something on our resume, but it is."

BIG PICTURE

Indiana: The Hoosiers certainly have played well since mid-January, winning nine of 12 and beating Purdue twice. And the secret to their success is obvious — defense. It allowed them to beat a top-five team on the road Saturday, even with Jackson-Davis held in check. That's a good sign for the Hoosiers as March looms.

Purdue: Coach Matt Painter's squad has hit its first real rough patch of the season and the timing couldn't be worse. Though the Boilermakers have been the nation's top-ranked team most of this season, they may be squandering a chance to earn a rare No. 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament. They need to find more consistent scoring options to help Edey — and fast.

POLL IMPLICATIONS

Indiana: Tuesday's road loss to an emotional Michigan State shouldn't hurt much, especially with an impressive road victory at Purdue.

Purdue: The Boilermakers took a tumble last week and this one will only keep them sliding.

NOTABLE

Indiana overcame Purdue's huge rebounding advantage, 46-23, and a stark free-throw discrepancy, 33-12, by committing just eight turnovers. The Boilermakers also were hurt by the their free-throw shooting, going just 22 of 33.

In Berger's world, No. 2 Indiana women have work to do

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

BLOOMINGTON — Grace Berger became an instant Indiana favorite thanks to a gritty playing style and an endearing personality.

Her accomplishments prove she's one of the top players on perhaps the Hoosiers' best team.

No. 2 Indiana clinched its first Big Ten regular-season title in 40 years and earned one first-place vote in this week's Top 25. But Berger insists this is no time to take a victory lap. In Berger's world, there's always more work — much more.

"Obviously, it's a cool moment," a wistful coach Teri Moren said when asked to describe the net-cutting ceremony after last Sunday's victory over rival Purdue. "Grace Berger, she continues to tell us we haven't done anything yet and that goes through my mind, right? I told her when she came off the floor, 'We haven't completed the task yet, but we have secured the championship.' "

Even if the unflappable guard didn't immediately acknowledge the significance of the 83-60 win over the Boilermakers.

Teammates and coaches insist this is no act and have the stories to prove it.

When Berger opted to return for one more season, she asked a teammate to inform Moren. When she made her final departure in her last regular-season home game, she was so focused she needed a reminder about the title-winning scenario. And when asked whether the new championship attire fit, she joked the hat was a little big.

Berger has never found any goal too large to pursue.

It explains why the Kentucky 2018 Miss Basketball Award finalist and 2018 Louisville Courier-Journal Female Athlete of the Year out of Sacred Heart Academy bypassed the opportunity to join stronger, more established programs such as her hometown Cardinals, her home-state Wildcats or Michigan to play between those borders at Indiana.

Even then, Berger knew Moren was building something she wanted to be part of. Now, everyone is reaping the rewards, thanks in large part to the 6-foot guard that has given her heart and soul to the program she loves.

Sydney Parrish, Indiana's 2020 Miss Basketball, also learned about Berger's presence after transferring home from Oregon.

"She means everything to this program," Parrish said. "People give a lot of credit to other people, but a lot of it goes to Grace and coach Moren and Mackenzie (Holmes). They built this program."

While Berger credits others for helping the Hoosiers' steady ascent — those who came before her arrival and those who followed her to Bloomington — few have a stronger legacy.

She finished Sunday's 86-85 loss at No. 6 Iowa ranked ninth on the Hoosiers' career scoring list with 1,779 points and second in assists (553) after posting a near double-double of 16 points and eight assists.

She's a three-time first team all-conference selection, a two-time member of the conference's all-academic team, a 2022 Big Ten Distinguished Scholar and a 2022 all-tournament team selection. In fact, Indiana's only other loss this season came at Michigan State when Berger was out with what some initially feared might be a season-ending knee injury. She missed eight games.

Indiana (26-2, 16-2) had claimed its first outright title when the Hawkeyes (23-6, 15-3) were routed Tuesday night at No. 7 Maryland so the next goal could be locking up Indiana's first No. 1 NCAA Tournament.

"It's really special," she said Sunday when asked about the conference crown. "But I came back to do more than win the regular season. We still realize that a lot of our goals are ahead of us. We'll enjoy this one today, but we still have a lot more work to do."

Kentucky overwhelms Auburn for 20th win of season

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LEXINGTON — Oscar Tshiebwe had 22 points and 17 rebounds and Antonio Reeves scored 18 of his 21 points in the second half when Kentucky pulled away to beat Auburn 86-54 on Saturday for the Wildcats' 20th win.

Jacob Tobbin had 13 points and 12 rebounds, and Cason Wallace almost made it three Wildcats with double-doubles, scoring 19 points and collecting nine assists. Kentucky (20-9, 11-5 SEC) won its fourth straight after shooting 56%.

After Allen Flanigan's bucket to open the second half got the Tigers (19-10, 9-7) within nine, Reeves scored seven straight points in a 13-3 run for a 53-34 lead with 13 minutes to go. He added a trio of 3-pointers the rest of the way, his final one giving Kentucky a 36-point lead by the final media timeout. The Wildcats stretched it to 40 before the remainder of the starters departed.

Jaylin Williams scored 13 points and Johni Broome 12 for Auburn, which shot just 34% and was outrebounded 41-23.

A basket by Toppin gave Kentucky a one-point lead and began a 16-4 run over the final five minutes of the first half for a 40-29 lead. Auburn made only one its final nine shots. Tshiebwe already had his double-double by halftime with 14 points and 10 rebounds.

Auburn plays at No.2 Alabama on Wednesday then concludes the regular season at home against Tennessee on Saturday. Kentucky is host to Vanderbilt on Wednesday (TV: Live on SEC at 7 p.m.) and plays at Arkansas on Saturday (TV: Live on CBS at 2 p.m.).

US women's soccer coach paid 27% as much as men's coach

BY RONALD BLUM
ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK — U.S. women's coach Vlatko Andonovski earned 27% as much as men's coach Gregg Berhalter in the year ending last March 31, down slightly from 28% in the previous year.

Andonovski earned $446,495, according to the U.S. Soccer Federation's tax filing released Monday, including $50,000 in bonuses for the Americans' third-place finish in the Tokyo Olympics. Berhalter earned $1,641,398, including $300,000 in bonuses during a year that included the 2021 CONCACAF Gold Cup title.

Berhalter remained the federation's highest-paid employee. In the previous fiscal year, Andonovski earned $357,597 and Berhalter $1,291,539.

Earnie Stewart earned $799,380 as the USSF's sporting director, virtually identical to his $799,699 the prior year. Men's general manager Brian McBride earned $346,494, a slight increase from $338,417.

Irish overcome dreadful injury to clinch ACC title at Louisville

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Initially stunned by an injury to its best player, Notre Dame regrouped with impressive maturity and resolve to earn a conference title and provide Olivia Miles a welcome cheer-up.

Sonia Citron scored 27 points, including four key free throws in the final 1:20, and the No. 10 Irish overcame the loss of Miles to a knee injury to beat Louisville 68-65 on Sunday and clinch the Atlantic Coast Conference regular season title.

Miles, who leads the Irish with 14.7 points, 7.4 rebounds, 7.0 assists and 2.1 steals per game, was hurt with 2:35 remaining before halftime while diving for a loose ball. The sophomore became emotional and pounded the floor while being examined by medical personnel. Miles eventually limped off the floor without assistance to applause as she made her way to the locker room.

The young Irish (24-4, 15-3 ACC) rallied from a 33-24 halftime deficit and to take the lead for good in the fourth quarter before holding on.

KK Bransford's layup got the Irish within 53-52 before Citron and Cassandre Prosper followed with five consecutive free throws to lead by four. Louisville's Hailey Van Lith made two free throws, but Citron's 3-pointer made it 60-55 and maintained that edge as the Cardinals missed two of four from the line.

Citron made two more from the line with 43.3 seconds left to make it 66-61 but missed two after Mykasa Robinson's layup to open the door for the Cardinals (21-10, 12-6). Van Lith's left-corner 3-pointer missed, Prosper was fouled on the defensive rebound and then made two with six seconds left to seal it.

Citron, a sophomore guard, made 10 of 14 free throws and 7 of 13 shots with three 3s as the Irish won their sixth in a row and swept Louisville. Bransford and Prosper, both freshman guards, added 14 and points respectively off the bench along with two assists each.

The group effort by the backcourt shut down Louisville's attempts to tie and helped Notre Dame end an emotional day on a high note.

Van Lith made 10 of 12 free throws to finish with 23 for Louisville. Merissah Russell had 12 points and Olivia Cochran 10.
